Interpersonal and Communication Skills

Students will be able to demonstrate interpersonal and communication skills, both verbal and written, that result in effective information exchange with patients, patients’ families, peers and other health professions colleagues.